The top drawing shows a perspective view of a rectangular box with internal dividers. The box is shown from a three-quarter angle, highlighting the top and side panels. The internal dividers are visible, creating a grid-like structure inside the box. The bottom panel is not yet attached.

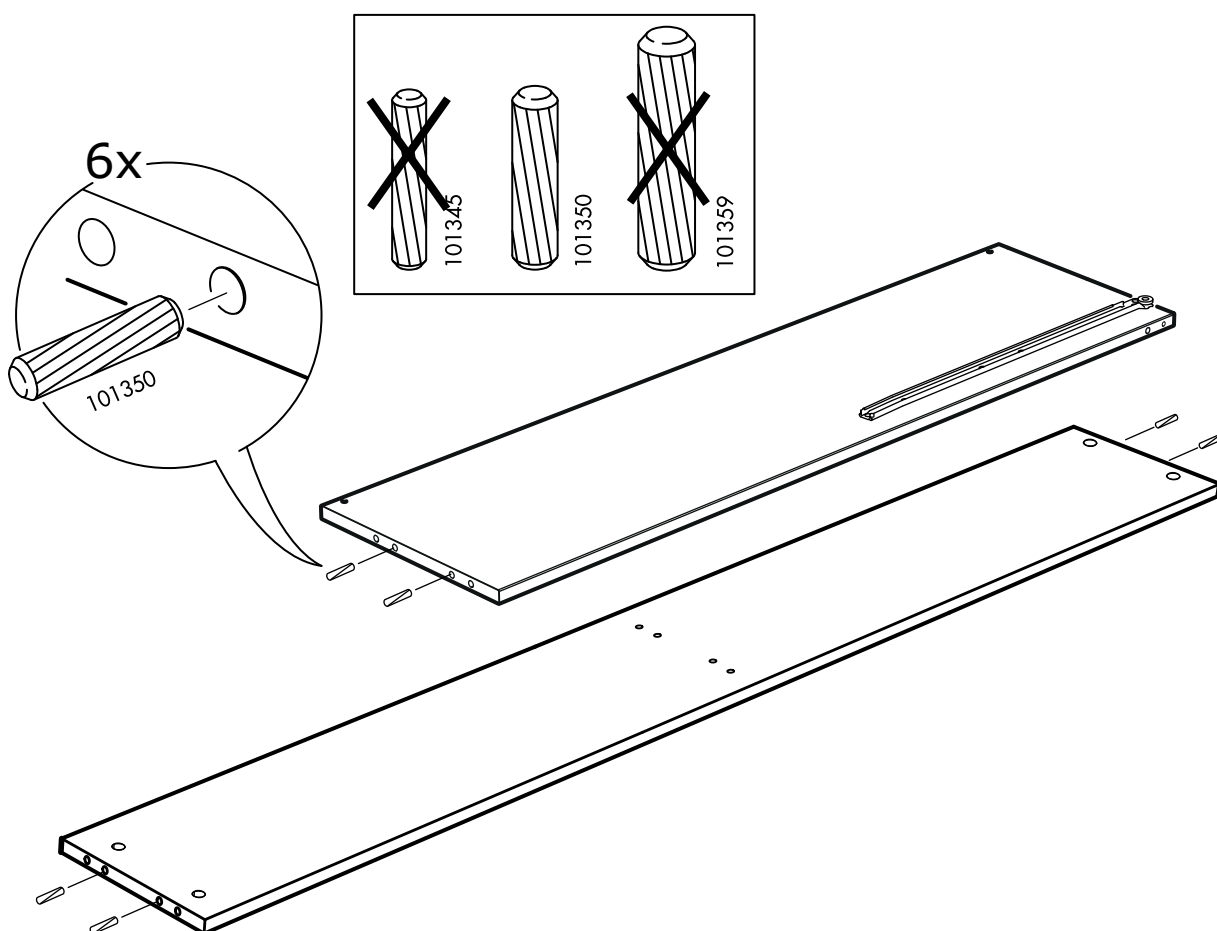

The bottom drawing shows the same box from a similar perspective, but now the bottom panel is attached, completing the structure. The box is shown from a three-quarter angle, highlighting the bottom and side panels. The internal dividers are still visible, and the box appears to be fully assembled.
